Prep wrestling: San Marin's Ross claims third consecutive MCAL title

San Marin's Dominic Green applies some pressure to Tam's Zachary Harris in the 120 weight class during the MCAL wrestling championships in San Rafael, Calif. Saturday, Feb. 20, 2016. (James Cacciatore/Special to the Marin Independent Journal)

POSTSEASON SCHEDULE

Friday-Saturday: NCS boys individuals, James Logan High, Union City; Girls state tournament, Visalia

March 4-5: Boys state tournament, Bakersfield

What turned out to be a dream week for San Marin High's Charlie Ross was more of a nightmare for Novato's Paul Adkisson.

Ross locked up his third consecutive league wrestling championship in Saturday's MCAL finals at San Rafael when he pinned Tam's Tristian Mitchell a little more than a minute into their 220-pound title match.

"Coach (Dan Donaldson) told me before the match, pin to win," Ross said.

A the opposite end of the spectrum was Adkisson — ranked in the top three in the North Coast Section all season — who did not even attend the finals to attempt to win his second consecutive title after a workout injury sidelined him early in the week.

Ross, and all of the other top-three finishers from the MCAL finals, advance to next weekend's NCS finals in Union City.

As for Adkisson, despite his absence from the league finals, he still earns a spot in the section tourney with an at-large berth if he is healthy enough to compete.

In the team competition, undefeated regular-season champ Redwood, which finished fourth at the NCS team dual meet last week, took home five individual titles and the team trophy, outscoring runnerup Tam, 210.5-162. San Marin (145) finished third and host San Rafael took fourth (102).

“When I started wrestling I never envisioned anything like this,” Ross said. “It’s funny, I was having dreams last night about the first one I won.”

Every top seed from 14 weight classes advanced to the finals but there were, nonetheless, a couple of upsets — the biggest shocker coming when San Rafael’s Eduardo Ramos came from behind to hang a 5-3 decision on heavy 182-pound favorite Brian Rivas of Tam.

“A story in the paper said nobody could compete with (Rivas) at the league finals,” said Ramos, who lost twice to Rivas during the regular season. “There’s always somebody out there who can beat you.”

Ramos trailed 3-1 in the final period before scoring a point on an illegal hold and knotting the score at 3-3 with an escape at the end of regulation time. Ramos won the match with a takedown 23 seconds into overtime.

“He tried the same move on me he had used in a dual meet,” Ramos said. “This time I was prepared for it. I just listened to my coach and did everything right.”

The 106-pound title match featured a peculiar anomaly. San Rafael coach Emmanuel Boyd’s wrestler Deybi Maldonado advanced to the finals against Boyd’s daughter, Samantha Boyd, who attends San Marin.

“Dad was rooting for me,” Samantha said. “He better have been.”

Regardless of who he was rooting for, Maldonado built a substantial lead into the third period and won the match in a 14-5 decision.

At the other end of the scales was 285-pound top seed San Marin’s Manu Sogelau, wrestling for the first time as a senior, who was put to the test by San Rafael’s gritty Braulio Resendiz. The match was locked at 4-4 in the third period before Sogelau made a lightning quick reversal which belied his size. A few seconds later, Sogelau pinned Resendiz.

“He was strong,” Sogelau said. “That was the third time I have wrestled him this season and I had beaten him both previous times. But I tried not to underestimate him. And I’m glad I didn’t. He did a great job and gave me the hardest match I’ve had all year.”

Redwood’s fine array of wrestlers were all in top form. At 145 pounds, Simon Ermolov lived up to his press clippings with a stylish third-round pin over stubborn Kiva Corshen of Novato. Redwood’s other winners were last year’s 106-pound champ Henry Breilmaier (113), who scored a handy 20-4 decision against Novato’s Luis Lopez, Jadon Seitz (132), who upset top seed Rezin Harris of Tam in an exciting 5-3 overtime decision, Sam Miranda (126), who scored a third-round pin against Justin-Siena’s Wriley Sedgwick-Robles, and steady Riley Dow, who took a 7-1 decision over Terra Linda’s Sam Foley.

“I was a little disappointed in my performance,” Dow said. “(Foley) is one of those guys that’s got strength but not quite the technical skills to back it up yet. I got tired at the end so I am going to have to work on my conditioning before NCS.”

The feel good story of the day was Terra Linda’s 170-pound champ Jeremy Naftzger, who upset top seed Ryan Stiles of Redwood 12-6. Naftzger said this is his first full season of wrestling because of injuries and/or grades the previous three years.

“I didn’t expect to win a title,” Naftzger said. “I think I should have had him pinned at one point. But if I get a little angry in a match that seems to work for me.”

Naftzger makes his first trip to the section finals.

“Nobody there has ever heard of me,” Naftzger said. “But that could work in my favor.”

Tam's Karim Shakur, as expected, won the thin 195-pound division with an 11-5 victory over Liam Birmingham of Drake. The match featured an interesting contrast between the short and stout Shakur and the long and lean Birmingham.

Other MCAL champs included San Marin's Dominic Green (120), who notched an impressive second-round pin against Tam's Zachary Harris, Marin Catholic's Stephen Cresalia (152), who captured a 12-6 decision against tough Justin-Siena freshman Cole Chapman, and Tam's Ben Lavine, who took advantage of Adkisson's absence when he pinned Justin-Siena's Garrett Long in the second round of the 138-pound title match.

"I was shocked when I heard Paul wasn't going to wrestle," Lavine said. "My title definitely comes with an asterisk. But it's a shame I didn't get to wrestle against Paul because I really wanted to."
